

BEWARE A GERMAN PEACE OFFER; SEDUCTIVE, DANGEROUS AS POISON

THERE are indications that Germany soon may put forward another peace temptation—one vastly more alluring than any of the feebler heretofore thrown out to the entente allies.

The German offensive has been a failure, up to now, in the larger sense. At the cost of hundreds of thousands of lives—killed, wounded and taken prisoner and by an unheard of expenditure of material—Germany has won a score or more heaps of ruins which still bear the names of towns and some square miles of shell-tortured land. But the British army has not been destroyed, nor has the French. Neither Amiens nor Paris have been taken. Chiefly, the Germans have failed in their main purpose to cleave their way through to Dunkirk and Calais. They hoped to capture the channel ports, cutting off the English allies thus at an enormous disadvantage by the loss of their chief debarkation and supply bases. They believed Britain then would be easily induced to abandon the war and that France would have to give in under the crushing weight. The German plan was to put Britain and France out of action before the United States could get a great army into the war.

None of these main or minor objects has been accomplished. Meanwhile the reserves of the enemy have been badly depleted and he is at best a time no far committed that for him there are but three options. Either he must go ahead with his offensive with very slight chance of success or he must abandon the offensive and dig in on the defensive, which would be a confession of failure disheartening to the Germans at home who are the backbone of the war. The third alternative is a peace offer. If one were made and the allies were to accept it, the day would be saved for Germany. BUT NOT FOR THE WORLD. OUR DANGER WOULD BE GREATER THAN EVER BEFORE. WE WOULD BE COMPELLED FEVERISHLY TO ARM OURSELVES AGAINST THE TERRIBLE DAY FOR WHICH GERMAN IMMEDIATELY WOULD PREPARE.

Just how seductive could Germany afford to make a peace proposal?

President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard suggests the following:

"She (Germany) may offer to retire from Belgium and France and even to contribute toward paying for the damage suffered (thus satisfying Belgium and also satisfying France and Britain as to that matter), to cede Alsace and Lorraine or leave their future to be settled by a plebiscite (cession of Alsace-Lorraine would satisfy France's chief war ambition), to give the Trentino and Trieste to Italy (this is Italy's war ambition), to promise some kind of autonomy to the various races in central and eastern Europe (to satisfy the United States) and to agree that the barbarities she has practiced shall not again be permitted in war."

President Lowell might have added an allurement for Great Britain, the proffered cession of the African provinces and for all the allies the internationalization of Palestine. At first glance such an offer would seem almost like a surrender on Germany's part. OUTSIDE TO THE CONTRARY, IF THE ALLIES ACCEPTED IT, GERMANY WOULD HAVE WON THE WAR.

The foregoing formula contains nothing about Russia. Germany would stipulate that the Brest-Litovsk peace treaty be allowed to stand unchanged. GERMANY'S VICTORY WOULD LIE IN HAVING SECURED DOMINATION OVER WHAT IS GEOGRAPHICALLY THE GREATEST NATION IN THE WORLD—a nation of some 200,000,000 population. This domination now is complete as to part of Russia and incomplete as to the rest. If the Brest-Litovsk peace treaty were allowed to stand, Germany with the coming of a general peace would be free to devote unshaken efforts to the Germanization of all Russia. Germans are now the principal land owners, manufacturers, bankers and business men of western Russia. Central Russia contains thousands of liberated German prisoners of war who have settled down to peace pursuits and show no desire to return to Germany. South Russia or the Ukraine and the Crimea have been virtually taken over by Germany. German war units in large numbers are wintered through Siberia. Advisers reaching the allies are that upward of 10,000 Germans are at Irkutsk alone.

Consider German "efficiency" on the one hand and Slav inefficiency on the other and consider what Russia would have become within 15 years if the war were to end now. Russia might go under a variety of names. Ostensibly it might be parceled up into groups of states, each independent on paper. In reality, these would be large numbers of German colonies. The German empire would be the greatest nation in the world in population and resources. Germany would dominate Europe and Asia, too. France and Great Britain would be pawns in her hands. Great Britain's weakness would lie in her scattered possessions while "All-Germany" would lie close-knit and compact. The United States would be no match for Germany, as by this conquest of Russia, Germany would be stronger than we in resources and would outnumber us in population three to one.

Moreover, there would be the vast state of Austria-Hungary. Something of far-reaching importance happened in Germany last week at the conference of emperors William and Charles and their ministers. Official statements purposely vague referred to the outcome of the meeting as a strengthened alliance having to do with military and economic affairs. It is reported from unofficial sources that a 20 year alliance was effected on terms which give Germany virtual control over Austria-Hungary. One surmises that if Wilhelm wants 200,000 Austro-Hungarian troops delivered on the Lorraine front three weeks from today, they will be there. SIMILARLY, IF THE EMPEROR OF GERMANY WANTS 3,000,000 AUSTRIO-HUNGARIAN TROOPS AT ANY SPECIFIED PLACE TEN YEARS FROM NOW, THEY WILL BE THERE TO FIGHT FOR HIM. No league of nations to enforce peace could stand against such a mighty power as Germany's "Mittelluropa" would be. NO ENFORCEMENT OF ANY ECONOMIC MEASURES WOULD BE POSSIBLE. GIVE GERMANY A FEW YEARS TO DEVELOP RUSSIA AND GERMANY'S WAR DEBT WOULD BE WIPED OUT AND THE TREASURY FILLED AGAIN. Russia has nearly everything under the sun, including the world's chief granary and the greatest partly developed and undeveloped resources in the world.

There is reason to believe Germany has achieved a free hand in Austria-Hungary. Then Germany can hold in subjection these disaffected races which the dual monarchy hardly can control. Germany can draw on Austria-Hungary for anything—and get it. Now, give Germany a free hand in Russia (do not forget that Rumania also with its fertile lands and its great oil fields also is bound almost to slavery by peace treaty) and the time will come when Germany can put 25,000,000 armed troops in the field and conquer the world. It is highly distasteful to Americans to entertain even the thought of being ground underfoot in defeat, but even American strength, valor, ingenuity are not proof against overwhelming odds. In passing, the thought occurs that had Germany been able to make an alliance with Russia to engage in the present war, it would have been over long ago, for the very traitorous forces which hamstrung Russia in 1914-17 would have contributed their best efforts to make Russia's 12,000,000 troops most effective.

The foregoing, then, gives a glimpse of the potentialities lying back of such a peace offer as Germany may put forward. The peace offer will be alluring, when it comes. One might better say seductive; the word is more to the point. It will appeal to thoughtful people to some extent, but most strongly to the average good citizen who gives more thought to his home and his business and little to international affairs. THE PUBLIC MUST STRENGTHEN ITSELF IN ADVANCE TO RESIST SUCH AN OFFER FOR IT WILL BE AS DANGEROUS AS POISON. That is to say, the offer itself will be highly dangerous unless the public in all allied countries is schooled to resist it because its very seductiveness will tend to disarm that unity of sentiment which now enables the allied peoples to carry on with such strength of purpose. It will be infinitely more dangerous in its terrifying possibilities for the future.

Our peoples must make up their minds that THERE CAN BE NO PEACE UNTIL GERMANY MAKES A COMPLETE AND UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER, AFTER HAVING BEEN BEATEN SO TERRIBLY THAT GERMAN CHARACTER IS CHANGED BY HAVING THE LUST FOR CONQUEST POUNDED OUT OF IT. That is what the overthrow of autocracy, the stamping out of Prussianism and "making the world safe for democracy" really means. German character must be changed and the lusts of Frederick the Great must be buried as permanently as are his bones.

FURTHERMORE, THE ALLIES IN CONCERT MUST EVENTUALLY DENOUNCE THE BREST-LITOVSK PEACE TREATY AND GIVE GERMANY AND HER VASSALS TO UNDERSTAND THEY CANNOT HAVE ONE FOOT OF THE SOIL OF RUSSIA OR ANY OTHER COUNTRY.

Germany's policy is rule and ruin.

The allies are working quietly—it is hoped effectively—to put the rush in Russia.

Gen. Maurice has found that the pen, mightier than the sword, is also more dangerous.

People thought from the very first that von Hindenburg was dead about like Villa was.

The charges in France count for something. The other kind merely enliven the debates in the United States senate.

German munition depots and the airdromes are discommoded considerably by the airships that pass in the night.

Germany announces the discovery of a drug which enables people to go a long time without food without experiencing the pangs of hunger. Maybe it's prussic acid.

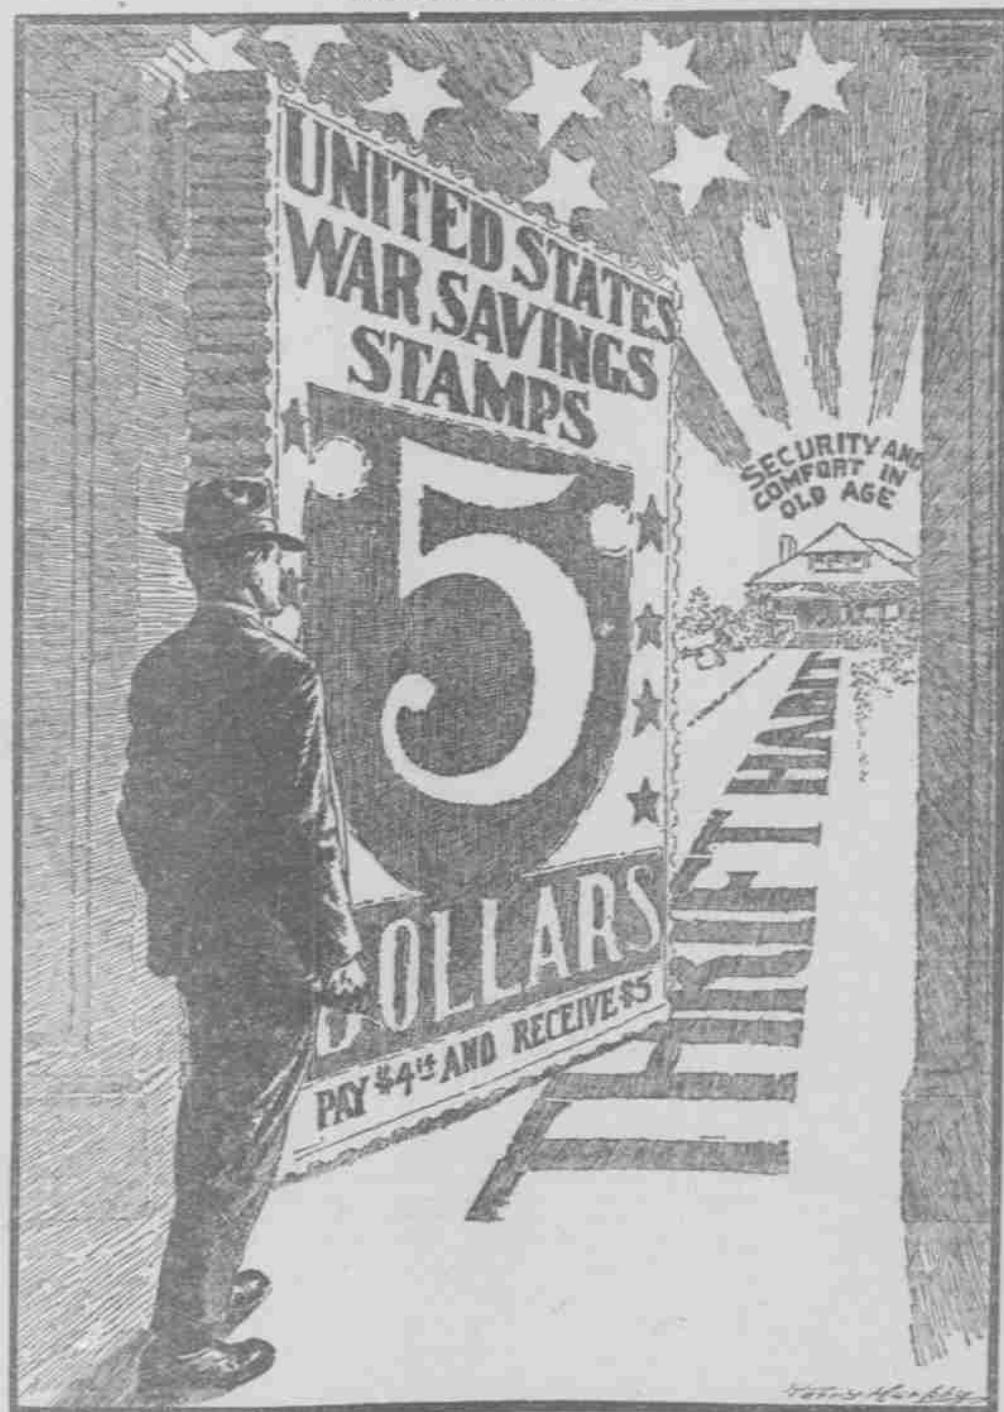

If it's a fact that Paris Apaches have loved New York, there's no cause for worry. Wait until the New York hotel men and restaurant keepers get through with them.

Von Hindenburg's dinner in Paris would be getting cold and stale by this time if it had ever been prepared. As a matter of fact, the host knew the unwelcome guest was not coming.

Secretary of war Baker says there are more than 500,000 American soldiers in France. We would like to know how many more but so would the imperial sword wielders and we can afford to remain in the dark in order to keep the Kaiser in the same condition.

THE CALL TO YOU! - - By Harry Murphy

Copyright 1919, International News Service

Little Interviews

U. S. Employment Bureau Here Helps Even To Find Servants Knows Of No Soldiers Released Yet For Valley Farming

"The public doesn't seem to understand, and is therefore not making, this use of the government employment bureau," said Henry M. Walker, "It should be remembered that the bureau's object is not only to secure men for government positions, but to supply wants of civilian individuals and corporations also. A man making application for work with us may secure the same with the government or in private industry; while any person even housewife needing a servant, is invited to list the wants with us, free of all charge, and we will do our best to secure the help needed."

"The provision of the draft laws whereby men may be released on furlough to work on farms is appealing to a number of valley people who have sons or brothers in the army," said county farm agent Roland Elwell. "I have been called on to endorse a number of applications for men, who the applicants say are badly needed on the farms. So far, however, I have known of none so released in this county."

"To get the best results from irrigation farming," said William Lyons

"one must get the highest efficiency possible out of all our water and irrigation. It is possible through irrigation farming to build up the water storage capacity where it cannot be done with any other type of farming. The water holding capacity of soil can be built up in two ways: first by tillage, which opens up the soil and causes the air space to be filled with water and second, through the addition of manures and organic matter. Manure acts like a sponge in the soil and increases the water holding capacity greatly. It also prevents loss by evaporation if placed on the surface."

"It is a mistake to say that El Pasoans have never visited the Fort Bliss cemetery on Decoration day," said Mrs. J. E. Bowen. "For the past seven years that I know of, flowers have been sent by the local D. C. members to the fort cemetery on Decoration day and three years ago, eight members of the A. A. R. and 25 members of the D. C. made up a wreath and took them out to the post cemetery on Decoration day."

"As between the Hoover loaf and the Garfield loaf, but what's the use of rubbing the raw spots?" Springfield Union.

When you accept what a liar tells you with a show of good faith he'll begin to think that possibly it may be true. — Toledo Blade.

Twenty-five Russian soldiers are guarding the former czar. Dangerous business. That many Russian soldiers can handle a czar—without forming a Soviet. Roads or other debating society. And what if they should elect the czar chairman. — Austin Statesman.

And one of the things that mystifies Texas politicians is how Lloyd George manages to win so often without the farmer vote. — Dallas News.

Sometimes it looks like Hindenburg may have to apply to the civil courts for a ruling on the ten mile zone law. — Galveston News.

As to my original article, I meant no harm to anyone. In fact, I meant to help the cause of both men and machines. I claim no knowledge of political economy nor civil engineering. I have no way of knowing it costs more to pump water in El Paso than it costs in other places, but I am enough of an engineer to know that if the machinery was in better shape than when my associates and I were out there, it would cost less to pump water in El Paso than it does now.

M. B. Kramer.

STUNG, COBB WILL WIN. Editor El Paso Herald: I will give a short sketch of the distinguished Cobb family. In the good old state of Georgia, John H. Cobb was the grandfather of our Zach Lauder Cobb, of this city. His grandfather was speaker of the house in Washington, D. C. in the years 1815

Mrs. Eliza Cobb, a French woman, who has been driving an automobile near the town for two years, has arrived in this country to plead with Americans women to lend every penny toward supporting the army.

EL PASO HERALD DEDICATED TO THE SERVICE OF THE PEOPLE. THAT NO GOOD CAUSE SHALL LACK A CHAMPION, AND THAT EVIL SHALL NOT THREATEN UNPUNISHED.

H. D. Slater, editor and controlling owner, has directed The Herald for 26 years; J. C. Wilmerth is manager and G. A. Martin is News Editor. MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS, AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION, AND AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

AN INDEPENDENT DAILY NEWSPAPER—The El Paso Herald was established in 1881. It is published daily except on Sundays, holidays and elections. The Daily News, The Telegraph, The Tribune, The Graphic, The Sun, The Advertiser, The Independent, The Journal, The Republican, The Bulletin.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION—Daily Herald, per month, $6.00; per year, $7.00. Wednesday and Week-End issues will be mailed for $2.50 per year. Week-End edition only per year, $1.50.

THIRTY-SEVENTH YEAR OF PUBLICATION—Superior exclusive features and complete news report by Associated Press, United Wire and special correspondents in the government service. New Mexico, West Texas, Mexico, Washington, D. C. and New York. Entered at the Postoffice in El Paso, Texas, as Second Class Matter.

"WHATEVER YOU WANT TO KNOW" The El Paso Herald Information Bureau at Washington furnishes readers free of charge and without obligation answers to questions on any and all subjects concerning which information can be had from the unparalleled resources of the various federal government departments, the great library of Congress and the many expert scientists in the government service. Washington. They can be reached by reply most accurately each inquiry. State clearly the information wanted. The El Paso Herald Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

The Conquerors In Uniform Of Blue, Tambourines And Red-Lined Bonnets

By K. C. R.

I CAN remember. WHEN THE first came. WITH THEIR drums. AND THEIR tambourines. AND THEIR red lined bonnets. AND I can remember. HOW SOME of us laughed. AS THEY stood on the streets. AND PRAYED. AND SANG their hymns. TO THE tune of songs. AND I can remember. AS THEY MARCH AWAY. TO A barren hall. THAT SOMETIMES. CLOSE IN their wake. A DERELICT. WOULD TRAIL ALONG. AND I know. THAT IN the years. THAT THEY'VE BEEN HERE. THAT MANY of those. WHO USED to scoff. HAVE COME to pray. AND SO IT IS. THAT THEY WENT ON. AND THE scoffers ceased. AND THERE came a need. FOR A real home. FOR WOMEN and babies. WHERE REGENERATION. AND EDUCATION. WERE POSSIBLE. AND A rescue home.

WAS STARTED IN EL PASO. BY GOOD women folk. AND THEY were those. THAT WE had seen. BESIDE THE curb. ON THE streets. WITH TAMBOURINES. AND GOSPEL SONG. AND HIGH pitched prayer. THAT HAD MADE THEM GO. UPON THE streets. IN SEARCH of souls. KEEPS THEM out there. AT THE RESCUE HOME. WHERE THEY MAY SOFTLY. TO MAKE the burden. OF THE OFFER. AND THERE they'll stay. THROUGHOUT THE DAY. AND THROUGH THE NIGHT. THIS LITTLE BAND. THAT ONCE preached peace. AND SIN forgiven. AND NOW they come. WITH MODEST plea. AND SEEK our aid. AND I will give. FROM MY small store. A SALVATION LASS. WILL SAVE a woman. OR A LOST child. WITH WHAT I give. I THANK YOU.

Letters To The Herald

ON CITY WATER PROBLEMS. Editor El Paso Herald: You are kind enough to publish on April 19 what I had to say about the city water works, and I now ask you to publish the following: I am a naturally looking for a "come back" to my article, but of course looked for it in a news paper. I was very much surprised therefore when a friend of mine told me about reading an article about me in "The Borden Weekly" which was published in the city. I was very much surprised to find that the city administration on political economy and to show the city engineering department how to grade the streets.

I made no such statements. I wrote about discharging the water from the Seventh street. But that I meant to raise or pump it to a higher level, into the canal on Eighth street. Pumping or raising water is a mechanical problem and a stationary engineer should know something about that.

My idea of this particular problem was for the city to buy a lot of the corner of Seventh and Park streets. This could later be used to build a fire station, the basement to be a constant tank. Then run a copper sized sewer line along Seventh street with screened openings at each street crossing, to empty into this tank. The tank could be driven by a centrifugal pump to operate automatically by a float, starting and stopping the pump as the water level rises and falls. Such an arrangement would work automatically and would need no one to watch it.

If such condition existed in Sunset Heights or in Manhattan Heights, the city would be a better place. I have heard a howl a long time ago, I have seen women step off of street cars in the middle of a block and put them off on some island from which they are either rescued or can wade to the sidewalk.

As to my original article, I meant no harm to anyone. In fact, I meant to help the cause of both men and machines. I claim no knowledge of political economy nor civil engineering. I have no way of knowing it costs more to pump water in El Paso than it costs in other places, but I am enough of an engineer to know that if the machinery was in better shape than when my associates and I were out there, it would cost less to pump water in El Paso than it does now.

M. B. Kramer.

STUNG, COBB WILL WIN. Editor El Paso Herald: I will give a short sketch of the distinguished Cobb family. In the good old state of Georgia, John H. Cobb was the grandfather of our Zach Lauder Cobb, of this city. His grandfather was speaker of the house in Washington, D. C. in the years 1815

Mrs. Eliza Cobb, a French woman, who has been driving an automobile near the town for two years, has arrived in this country to plead with Americans women to lend every penny toward supporting the army.

EL PASO HERALD DEDICATED TO THE SERVICE OF THE PEOPLE. THAT NO GOOD CAUSE SHALL LACK A CHAMPION, AND THAT EVIL SHALL NOT THREATEN UNPUNISHED.

H. D. Slater, editor and controlling owner, has directed The Herald for 26 years; J. C. Wilmerth is manager and G. A. Martin is News Editor. MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS, AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION, AND AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

AN INDEPENDENT DAILY NEWSPAPER—The El Paso Herald was established in 1881. It is published daily except on Sundays, holidays and elections. The Daily News, The Telegraph, The Tribune, The Graphic, The Sun, The Advertiser, The Independent, The Journal, The Republican, The Bulletin.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION—Daily Herald, per month, $6.00; per year, $7.00. Wednesday and Week-End issues will be mailed for $2.50 per year. Week-End edition only per year, $1.50.

THIRTY-SEVENTH YEAR OF PUBLICATION—Superior exclusive features and complete news report by Associated Press, United Wire and special correspondents in the government service. New Mexico, West Texas, Mexico, Washington, D. C. and New York. Entered at the Postoffice in El Paso, Texas, as Second Class Matter.

"WHATEVER YOU WANT TO KNOW" The El Paso Herald Information Bureau at Washington furnishes readers free of charge and without obligation answers to questions on any and all subjects concerning which information can be had from the unparalleled resources of the various federal government departments, the great library of Congress and the many expert scientists in the government service. Washington. They can be reached by reply most accurately each inquiry. State clearly the information wanted. The El Paso Herald Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

EL PASO HERALD DEDICATED TO THE SERVICE OF THE PEOPLE. THAT NO GOOD CAUSE SHALL LACK A CHAMPION, AND THAT EVIL SHALL NOT THREATEN UNPUNISHED.

H. D. Slater, editor and controlling owner, has directed The Herald for 26 years; J. C. Wilmerth is manager and G. A. Martin is News Editor. MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS, AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION, AND AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

AN INDEPENDENT DAILY NEWSPAPER—The El Paso Herald was established in 1881. It is published daily except on Sundays, holidays and elections. The Daily News, The Telegraph, The Tribune, The Graphic, The Sun, The Advertiser, The Independent, The Journal, The Republican, The Bulletin.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION—Daily Herald, per month, $6.00; per year, $7.00. Wednesday and Week-End issues will be mailed for $2.50 per year. Week-End edition only per year, $1.50.

THIRTY-SEVENTH YEAR OF PUBLICATION—Superior exclusive features and complete news report by Associated Press, United Wire and special correspondents in the government service. New Mexico, West Texas, Mexico, Washington, D. C. and New York. Entered at the Postoffice in El Paso, Texas, as Second Class Matter.

Offers To Give Away Wife and $10 To Boot

Providence, R. I., May 18.—Salvatore Cavaliere, 35, gave his wife and $10 to boot to Nicola Cigno, a boarder in the home, if he would take her, according to the latter's testimony in superior court. In the divorce suit, Cavaliere had offered to take the wife of Salvatore to become the boarder.

Father of Two Sets of Twins In Two Years; 78

Madison, Wis., May 18.—Col. P. H. Spencer, formerly of this city, but now of Algona, Ia., is receiving congratulations because of the arrival of a second pair of twin sons at his home. The first twin sons were born to his wife February 18, 1916. Col. Spencer, who is 60 years old, and a civil war veteran, says that if his sons were old enough they would be fighting the Kaiser right now.

Uncle Walt's Denatured Poem.

End Of The War

YOU ask me when the war will end, and sadly I reply, "I fear it will not stop, my friend, till pigs begin to fly." A flippant answer, you will say, to come from my fat tongue; but every hour of every day I hear that question sprung, globe and tell what will befall. No prophet's mantle came my way, the myth's power to lead, and so I really cannot say just when the war will end. Oh, I can see as far ahead as any common sense; and when the morning sign is red, I know there will be rain; and I can tell by sundry signs when there'll be snow and sleet; along such cheap forecasting lines I simply can't be lost. But when you to my fair ascend, along my stairway steep, and ask me when the war will end, "Search me," I say, and weep. In politics I can predict the votes cast, more or less; George Harvey's flaunting plumes are picked, when I begin to guess. And once I was a full size cheese, as good as cheese are, by guessing just how many rats were in a grocer's jar. All guessing contests I attend, in this and other lands, but ask me when the war will end, and I throw up my hands.

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Barbers Raise Prices; Long Hair Fashionable

Springfield, Ill., May 18.—Long, shaggy hair and bristling whiskers are now common in Springfield. Haircuts and shaves have been placed in the discard by the populace on account of an increase in barber prices. The tonsorialists recently voted to charge 46 cents for the rigorous task of clipping the long tresses of capitalists. And for shaves they decided 20 cents was little enough.

Somnambulist Takes Stroll Of Eighteen Miles

Perwick, Pa., May 18.—Miss Elizabeth de Pau, 35, yawning, rubbed her eyes and then looked with amazement upon a strange world. Her unconscious feet were bruised and sore and in her hands she carried her shoes. Another factor and the mystery was solved. She had walked from Hazleton, a distance of 18 miles, in her sleep.

Puzzle: Find The Slacker

THIS IS A WHEATLESS DAY

MEMBER FOOD ADMINISTRATION

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Puzzle: Find The Slacker

THIS IS A WHEATLESS DAY

MEMBER FOOD ADMINISTRATION

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Puzzle: Find The Slacker

THIS IS A WHEATLESS DAY

MEMBER FOOD ADMINISTRATION

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Puzzle: Find The Slacker

THIS IS A WHEATLESS DAY

MEMBER FOOD ADMINISTRATION

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Puzzle: Find The Slacker

THIS IS A WHEATLESS DAY

MEMBER FOOD ADMINISTRATION

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON

Copyright, by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON